

I cannot believe you are contemplating allowing cell phone use in-flight. How much is the cell phone industry giving you under the table? It is a joke that this is even being considered. If we put aside the fact that numerous fist fights will break out - how about the security aspect? Good luck if you approve this.

Your friend,

Bob